Red Cross war fund next week

Workers to meet Friday; day's pay asked of workers

The Red Cross War Fund Drive is about to knock on the front doors of Arlington Heights, announces Mrs. George Heiber, chairman of the local drive which gets under way next week. Mrs. Heiber has called a meeting for all Red Cross War Fund Drive Workers for Friday evening this week in the Field House at P. M. when they will be given instructions and presented with their working kits. A Red Cross movie "Since Pearl Harbor" a dramatic sound film on Red Cross activities will be shown to the workers and all are urged to attend this meeting.

The citizens of Arlington Heights will have their chance to help this cause beginning on March 15th, when sometime during the ensuing two weeks they will be called upon for a contribution to the drive, which is asking for $8,750,000 from Chicago and the suburban area.

The fund will be spent for the welfare, the care and the entertainment of the millions of soldiers, sailors, and marines in the military service, who are looking to the home front for full moral and financial backing, that they may "get in there with all they have" and get it over with as soon as possible.

This is to be the only plea made by the Red Cross for funds this year, unless there is a major disaster at home, states Mr. James B. Forgan, chairman of the Red Cross chapter in the Chicago area.

Large companies already contacted in this area have already doubled their contribution of last year and with the $8,000,000 fund asked for twice as large as last year, the same principle of generosity must be displayed by all, if the goal is to be accomplished.

All are asked to make a sacrifice on the home front that in some small manner can measure up to the sacrifices that the boys are making on the battle front.

A contribution of one day's pay of the wage earner of the home is asked. Such a plan would place all on the same basis as each family would contribute a proportionate share of its income.

Lutheran Hour

rally with Dr.

Maier in person

14 churches will participate in rally at Arlington Heights

The Arlington Heights high school has been chosen as the place of the big Lutheran Hour Rally March 26, sponsored by twelve Lutheran churches of this area. Invitations to join in this rally are being sent to the churches of Arlington Heights (Rev. Harry C. Fricke), Mt. Prospect (Rev. J. E. Mueller), Elk Grove (Rev. F. L. Gehrs), West Northfield (Rev. W. Fechner), Libertyville (Rev. W. H. Lehmann), Morton Grove (Rev. O. Heitke), Milwaukee Ave. (Rev. J. Toepel), Fairfield (Rev. Paul Gerth), Palatine (Rev. W. Koester), Barrington (Rev. A. T. Kretzmann), Schaumburg (Rev. Martin Behling), Roselle (Rev. Walter Melberg), Roseburg (Rev. J. Rozak), Round Lake (Rev. R. T. Eisefeldt).

This rally will be highlighted by the appearance of Dr. Walter A. Maier, the renowned Lutheran Hour speaker. He is heard every Sunday at 3 p. m. over the largest religious network in the world comprising 286 American and 75 foreign stations with an estimated audience of 10,000,000 listeners. The local outlet is WCFL. Dr. Maier will give us an insight how his vast broadcast operates and the remarkable response it receives by appreciative people everywhere.

Another big attraction of this Lutheran Hour Rally is the showing of the new colored sound film "Bringing Christ to the Nations." This production takes us behind the scenes and depicts with dramatic effect how the Gospel message of Dr. Maier brings religious comfort and hope into countless broken lives of every strata of human society.

Dr. Meyer of Elmhurst, state representative for Dr. Maier, has selected Arlington Heights for the Lutheran Hour Rally because of its central location in the circuit. The Arlington Heights local of the Lutheran Laymen League has been placed in charge of arrangements. Albert Dick, president of the local league, has appointed the following committee to handle all details: Wm. J. Mueller, chairman; Wm. Cronert, Leonard Hobbs, Edwin Meyer, Edward Engelsing, Oscar Hinrichs, Theodore Stuetmann, Wm. Keiser, Alfred Sander, Arnold Bathje, Theodore Preuss, Mrs. Otto Koch, Mrs. Wm. J. Mueller, Albert Dick, Herman G. Landeck.

Two tickets in field for grade school members

It is Mt. Prospect's "turn" in high school election

While only one ticket has been actually filed for the forthcoming school election of Dist. 25, there is a second ticket in the offing. Present members who are candidates for re-election are: C. E. McWharther, president; J. M. Sommers, and Robert Blackburn, members.

The second ticket, for which petitions are now being circulated include: Robert T. Evans for president; Harold Ratcliff and Clifford Schaefer as members. It is Mt. Prospect's year to elect members of the high school board. C. I. Davis, Arlington Heights, is candidate for re-election as president. A. C. Haake, secretary of the board, is a candidate to succeed himself. Ralph Gould desires to retire and H. W. Carlson has been prevailed upon to take his place upon the board.

The last day for filing petitions is Friday, March 19.

Second period ration stamp available Mar. 25

Stamps A, B, and C in War Ration Book Two are valid from March 1, through March 31. Second period stamps (to be designated later) will become valid March 25. The seven-day overlapping period will permit consumers who have low point stamps left to use them by adding to the points from the subsequent period.

An Example: After March 25, Mrs. Smith has five one-point stamps left as the first period is ending. She needs a pound can of peas, point value of which is 15.

By taking an eight point stamp from the second period allotment, Mrs. Smith will be able to purchase the can of peas.

However, it is not considered good sense to use later period stamps unless under circumstances similar to the one we set forth in the example.

Not Rationed. Reports reaching OPA indicate that some grocers are under the impression that rice is included on the list of rationed processed foods, and frozen fruits and vegetables. Rice definitely does not fall under any of the rationed categories.

Persons who have moved into a new ration jurisdiction, should write their former boards, requesting that all applications be forwarded to their new War Price and Rationing Board.

Inaugurate 'University of Life' youth program

Fifty young people of the Presbyterian, the Methodist and the St. John's churches of Arlington Heights met on Sunday evening in the Methodist church for the University of Life Program, which got underway last week.

The meeting opened at 5:30 p. m. with folk songs, which were followed by a hot dish supper. The period of worship and the guest groups met, following the supper hour.

The leaders and the young people seem most enthusiastic over the group met, following the supper program, which aims to provide fun, fellowship, and religious training.

A student council was selected with the following members, pre-high group: Richard Prest, Patty Peterson, Dale Pate; high school group: Dolly Davis, Rosemary Heller and George Gaare, and post-high group: Bernice Bencic, Helen Palmer and Naomi Smart.

Mrs. Rosemary Heller was then elected president of the student council, with Dale Pate as vice president, and Bernice Bencic secretary.

Committees. Committee members who will serve are promotion committee: George LaPlant, Bill Williams and Betty Davis; Supper committee: Beverly Simmons, Nancy Kumber and Lynn Patrick; recreation committee: Royce McWharther, Helen Palmer and Perrene Pingel, and worship committee: Caroline Kamphenkel, Beverly Peterson, Bob Williams, Lorraine Jackson, Bill Griffin and Barbara Barrette.

The pre-high school groups have chosen as their "guest" subject, "High Lights of the Bible" and the high school and post high school groups will discuss "Problems of Youth" as their guest groups.

Children who attend such a program will have every opportunity for fun and will also have an opportunity to discuss with young people their own age, the problems facing them.

Wise parents will encourage their children to take advantage of such a splendid opportunity. The University of Life program will meet every Sunday evening from 5:30 p. m. until 7:45. The first series of meetings will be held at the Methodist church and are open to all interested.

March a full month at Arlington field house

March is a full month for Arlington Heights field house. It is being used by some civic organization every day in the month except Sundays. There are double, yes triple headers on some of the days. "Arlington Heights people are certainly making use of their field house," were the words of Supt. McElhose, as he handed to the reporter the schedule for the month.

Herald readers will be just as surprised as the editor when they learn that fifteen local organizations have regular reservations, many of them for each week and some of them for several days of each week. The facilities of the field house include ladies lounge, south club room, south club basement, men's locker, auditorium, and kitchen. The park board is providing the facilities of the building for strictly community wide civic purposes at no cost to the applicants. The total rental revenue for the month is only $66.

Forty dollars of this amount is for a wedding party that will use the entire building.

There may be some who doubt the above statements. For them the Herald is publishing the March schedule in full. Here it is:

Scarsdale all out for Victory gardens

Scarsdale residents are being urged to go out for Victory Gardens in a big way. Recognizing that there is little space on many of the individual home lots, the suggestion has been made by "Threads," the official organ of Scarsdale that many of the vacant lots of that section of Arlington Heights be plowed up for the gardens. Jim Sommers, in making the suggestions, says that wherever weeds grow in Scarsdale, there is good soil. Just think turning those weed spots into gardens!

Jim offers to help his neighbors stake out their gardens and to secure a farmer to plow it for them. Another interesting item in the last issue of "Threads" is a financial budget for 1943 of the Scarsdale Improvement Association. That organization plans to spend $550 during the present year for worthwhile things about that section of Arlington Heights.

The residents of Scarsdale are backing up their words with action and $5.00 per.

The March meeting of the association will be held Saturday evening at the field house. Each member and his wife will bring their own box lunch. The evening will include dancing, and games and the opportunity to win a few war stamps and a war bond.

Mrs. Geo. Wood killed by auto

Mrs. Geo. Wood of Palatine township was fatally injured Monday morning on Rand rd. near Wilkie rd., when she was struck by a car driven by Bert McMillan of Highland Lake, McHenry, Ill.

Mrs. Wood, with her husband, George, and daughter, Rita, were pushing the Wood car which had stalled on Rand rd. near Wilkie rd., when they saw the car driven by McMillan come around the curve behind them.

Fearing that they might be hit the Woods left the car and ran onto the shoulder of the road.

McMillan, instead of passing the Wood car on the pavement swung to the right, going onto the shoulder of the road and crashing into the Woods.

Mrs. Wood was thrown for many feet and her daughter, Rita, was also badly bruised.

The victims of the crash were rushed to the Palatine hospital where Mrs. Wood died within a short time. McMillan was released after the verdict of the coroner's jury.

WGN sports editor makes a suggestion

An article on the importance of sports that appears on this week's sports page is good medicine for any community, and it should be taken in large doses by Arlington Heights which has a juvenile delinquency problem on its hands at the present moment.

Grayle Howlett, 501 E. Euclid, who was formerly on the sports staff of the Chicago Tribune and is now sports editor of WGN, is a resident of Arlington Heights and has some ideas about a comprehensive sports program in Arlington Heights schools, which he has roughly outlined at the request of the Herald, in this week's issue.

Mr. Howlett does not say anything about juvenile delinquency, but if an enlarged sports program would be good medicine for Arlington Heights boys, let us have it. The boy who devotes his time outside of his regular duties to sports, has no time to think about crime. Mr. Howlett's idea about the importance of sports appears on page 6 of the second section.

Zero hour for city directory

The first forms of the new Arlington Heights city directory go to press next Monday. Residents who contemplate changing their address, should notify Miss Catherine Behrens, No. 580, at once if they desire to be correctly listed.

Thermal-Tite plant to start production within 30 days

Inter-class basketball this Friday

Inter-class basketball with a dance afterward is the entertainment listed for this Friday night at the Arlington Heights township high school gym. The games and dance are being run by the "A" club in an effort to raise funds for letters and other awards to be presented to the school athletes.

In the opening game the freshmen will tangle with the sophomores. Ten outstanding classmen will comprise each team. In the nightcap the seniors will take on the juniors.

Following the games a dance will be held in the gym, lasting until midnight.

Each year the job of purchasing track, football, baseball and basketball awards to the school athletes has been taken up by the "A" club. This year the "A" club treasury is seriously depleted and receipts for the games this Friday night are hoped to be large enough to cover the cost of the emblems. Admission is 10 cents for students and 30 cents for adults.

Ration dates

March 13 — Period 5 fuel-oil coupons, good to Sept. 30, become valid.

March 15 — Last valid date for No. 11 sugar coupons, good for three pounds.

March 21 — Last valid date for Stamp No. 25, good for one pound of coffee.

March 21 — Last day on which Coupon 4 in "A" gas ration book is valid.

March 31—Final date for first inspection of passenger car tires for "A" card holders and motorcycles; last day on which A, B and C stamps in war ration book 2 may be used. (Stamps of second ration period may be used from March 25.)

April 12 — Expiration date for Period 4 fuel-oil coupons.

June 15 — Last valid date for Stamp No. 17, good for one pair of shoes.

In all fairness

Contrary to practice of the majority of newspapers, the Herald recently omitted the names of a group of boys who started a small crime wave in Arlington Heights. Last week the Herald did print the name and address of a fifth boy.

The editor received this week a letter from Samuel R. Ryerson, superintendent of the Division for Delinquency prevention of the State of Illinois Department of Public Welfare, in which Mr. Ryerson complimented the Herald upon the manner that the original story was handled. The editor has received similar expressions from others. These have brought about the adoption by this paper of a definite policy concerning future stories of similar nature.

The names of boys who accidentally or thoughtlessly get into trouble will not be published unless they are convicted of a crime and sentenced by court. Parents need have no fear that their boy and girl will receive any undue publicity in the Herald.

The publication in last week's issue of the name of the fifth boy has brought sorrow to his mother, and to his brother who is also without the guiding influence of a father. Arrangements are being made to give this boy a break and he will no doubt become a good citizen. His is a year younger than the others who escaped newspaper publicity, but the real causes of the mistakes the boys made are the same — a lack of parental direction and community interest in boys of the teen age.

Two wrongs do not make a right and the publication at this time of the names of all the boys would accomplish nothing. The Herald is depending on the fairness of the public, and especially the classmates of the remaining brother, that neither will be further embarrassed.

No racing at Arlington Park

The Arlington Park race track, leading track in the Chicago area, is dark for the duration.

With the curb on auto driving and on special train transportation it was necessary to transfer the Arlington Park dates to Washington, D. C. on a lot of important materials are able to take care of the crowds.

The regular Arlington dates and racing features will be run off at Washington Park.

Lenten services begin this week at churches

Capt. Schimmel has a busy week in Arlington Heights

Capt. Walter Schimmel, who is assigned to a hospital at Cochrane Field, Ga., where he leads a busy life in the medical corps, has been a very busy man the past week in Arlington Heights. Hands were stretched out in greeting wherever he went and Mrs. Schimmel, when she sent him downtown on a simple errand, did not know how soon he would return home.

The doctor has learned to fly and enjoys it immensely. Ever since he was in a train wreck in Georgia a few years ago he has been jittery about trains. Unable to obtain a plane reservation to come home he started by train, but by the time his train had reached Cincinnati, he could not stand it any longer and he came the rest of the way as an air passenger.

Upon arriving at home invitations became so numerous that Capt. and Mrs. Schimmel were compelled to regretfully decline them all. Instead their friends began calling upon them, and they came all hours of the day and evening. The doctor ate luncheon Tuesday with the staff at St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

The doctor looks ten years younger; is anxious for foreign service and believes that it is up to the dads of today to do such a thorough job in this war that their sons will not have to go thru another one.

Capt. Schimmel returned Wednesday evening to Cochrane Field.

Walter Poggensee, who has been assistant to Virginia Dodge, Arlington Heights postmaster, left Arlington Saturday for service in the navy with the Seabees. He volunteered for the service last November, but has just been called. Walter is resigning from the postal service and will enter other work when the duration is over.

Get behind the Boy Scouts, writes Lt. Kincaid

The following excerpt from a letter written by Lt. Kincaid, former president of Palatine high school board of education, addressed to the Palatine Lions club should interest every parent:

"I hope all the Lions really get behind the Boy Scouts. You fellows would really be surprised how much influence — the right kind — that scouting has had upon our boys. It certainly does show up in our classes here. Young fellows who have had the benefit of the scouting program really do outstanding work — they know a lot of the fundamentals that the army needs — and know them well.

"Boy Scout training really shows up. Our flight leaders here are practically 90 per cent former scouts.

"Yours for the scouting program."

Harry.

Family appreciates courtesies shown by Arlington people

Arlington Heights Post No. 981, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has received the following letter from a brother of the late A. C. Wilcox, who passed away recently:

"The sister and seven brothers of your late comrade, A. C. Wilcox, express to all members of your Post their sincere appreciation for handling the funeral services of our brother.

At the burial in Warsaw, Ind., the final ceremonies were taken care of by Hamilton B. Paul Post No. 4, Spanish War Veterans, and the military salute was given by a firing squad from the American Legion Post.

The flag was given to our sister, Miss Julia Wilcox of Cincinnati, Ohio.

We also want to express our very deep appreciation for the floral tribute and the many calls from members of your families and many other small courtesies which they rendered during this bereavement.

Sincerely yours,

Lawrence Wilcox.

PTA district council meets Friday

The March meeting of the Parent-Teacher Council of Northwest Suburbs of Chicago, ICPT, will be held at St. Luke's church, Park Ridge, on Friday, March 12, 1943. Registration will take place at 9:45 and Mrs. R. A. Tank, president of the Council, will open the business session promptly at 10:00 a. m. The Park Ridge Parent-Teacher association is the hostess for the day.

Mrs. T. A. Copple, vice president and program chairman of the council has arranged an outstanding program and one which no one can afford to miss. The theme chosen for this council year is "The Ramparts We Watch" and inasmuch as all parents and teachers are concerned with keeping the children of this country on as even a keel as possible, the talk to be given at the morning session by Mrs. Frank A. Damm, first vice president of the ICPT, should be of vital interest to everyone. Mrs. Damm is going to speak on "The Road Ahead." During the morning session Mrs. Richard S. Kaar, director of District No. 28, of which the council of Northwest Suburbs is a part, will bring a timely message. Reports of the nominating committee will also be made at the morning session.

Luncheon is to be served by the ladies of the church at noon at a cost of 50¢ per person. Immediately following the luncheon the well known Park Ridge Mothersingers will offer a group of songs.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. George E. Olson, student aid chairman of the ICPT will explain the work that is being done thru-out the state in this important field. Mr. Harry D. Winslow, superintendent of schools of Park Ridge, will also address the meeting and a motion picture of activities in the Park Ridge schools will be shown.

St. Peter's Mothers club meets Friday

The Mothers club of St. Peter Lutheran school will conduct its monthly business meeting on Friday, March 12, at 8:00 p. m. in the parish house. The meeting will be called to order by the president, Mrs. A. Blaschke. Vital business will be conducted.

An interesting program has been planned. Mr. Bathie will lead a discussion on the possibilities of cooperation between school and home, after which a film will be shown emphasizing the importance of play activities. A social gathering with refreshments will follow. A large attendance is anticipated.

The heads of the Arlington Heights Cub organization report that there are a great number of articles completed for the project of this month.

The next pack meeting is the 19th, so if you haven't finished your project get busy on it now. All Cubs are asked to bring whatever they have made to the next Pack meeting.

It won't be long till our outdoor activities will start and this is also a good time to check your neighborhood and see if there are any boys of age to join the Cubs.

Mrs. Brown goes to Washington

Mrs. A. Brown, legislation chairman of the Mt. Prospect PTA, attended a session of the Senate on Washington's birthday. A large part of the gallery is reserved for servicemen who come and go all during the meeting. She felt that these men could not possibly gain a good impression of this august body of law-makers by remaining only a few minutes. It is necessary to stay several hours to realize that these men are really working. Most of the business is carried on in the ante-chambers, the senate chamber being used merely for the formality of getting things "on the record" and voting on legislation.

The senate session was opened by the President of the Senate, the Honorable Henry A. Wallace, Washington's Farewell Address, enjoining Congress to strict neutrality, was read in honor of his birthday. Mr. Wallace listened respectfully throughout the reading of the message, and after starting the action on the business of the day turned his chair over to someone else and left the chamber.

The question before the Senate was the merger of the telegraph companies. Apparently nobody was listening to the speaker, but every once in a while one of them would ask a question, showing he knew what was going on all the time. Someone moved to take a roll call to see if a quorum were present, which seemed unlikely, since there were only a handful of Senators in the chamber. The bells buzzed, bringing forth legislators from their committee meetings. A quorum being present, the bells buzzed again to take the vote. The Senators arrived as their names were called alphabetically, knowing just when to come in to give their "No" or "Aye," and then going back to their meetings. The Honorable Scott Lucas appeared for the vote but Senator Brooks was absent.

Some of the interesting personalities present were Senator Capper of Kansas, looking like nothing but a Kansan, Senator Alben Barkeley, the Democratic Whip, is the genial, square-headed, rough-and-ready type, who doesn't miss a thing that goes on, while walking up and down with a half-smile on his face talking to everyone. Senator McNary, the Republican Whip, was not present.

Senator Hiram Johnson, the Senior member of the Senate, was greeted cordially by everyone. Senator VanDen Berg, one of the most faithful members looked very distinguished. Senator Austin, of Vermont, also made a fine appearance. Senator Wheeler of Montana, Senator Pat Connelly, the typical old-fashioned Southern Senator, with a little bow tie and long hair, Senator Byrd, looking very dapper in a large spring suit, all voted on the measure, which was passed.

Mrs. Brown had an unusual experience when she visited the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington that day. As their car arrived at the famous cemetery they were stopped by motorcycle police who detained them until the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Madame Chiang Kai Chek had laid a wreath on the tomb. There were only a handful of people present. As the President's car passed they returned the salute of a private standing next to Mrs. Brown. People have worked in Washington for years without ever seeing the occupants of the White House close-up.

Now accept 17 year-olds for army air corps

A new program for Army Aviation Cadets in the Sixth Service Command, to become operative on March 10, 1943, in which seventeen year olds may for the first time apply for Army flying training, was announced today by Major General H. S. Aurand, commanding the Service Command with headquarters in Chicago.

The plan, which is two-fold, is as follows, General Aurand said: seventeen year olds may apply as Army Aviation Cadets. If successful in their physical and mental examinations, they are enlisted in the Army Air Force Enlisted Reserve Corps. The physical examination is good for a period of ninety days. The successful applicants are not called to active duty until they reach their eighteenth birthday. When a man is qualified, he may indicate when he wishes active duty, between his eighteenth birthday and the day when he is eighteen and six months. In other words, Gen. Aurand said, he may be called to active duty at any time during a period of six months, after his eighteenth birthday.

Men from the ages of eighteen to twenty-six who have received notice for induction into the armed services are not eligible for Army Aviation Cadet training until they have been duly processed through the induction system, the General said. The man goes to his training unit, and may then apply from that place for Army Aviation Cadet training.

On the other hand, those between eighteen and twenty-six who have not yet received notice for induction, may apply. If mentally and physically qualified, they are so notified by the Army Aviation Cadet Board. The man so qualified takes this notice to his local Selective Service Board, and volunteers for induction. He is then processed as are all other selectees. However, the General stressed, the procedure then varies sharply. Instead of being sent to an Army Reception Center, the man reverts to an inactive status, and when called, is ordered direct to an Army Air Force Reception Center.

Evanston pastor to speak at St. Johns

Rev. John Hess of Evanston is guest preacher at St. John's church, Mt. Prospect, this Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. His topic will be "The meaning of the church."

The Rev. Hess is rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Evanston, one of the fastest growing parishes on the North Shore. He is president of the Episcopal Church society for College Work in the Fifth Province. Last year he organized a student chaplaincy for student work on the Northwestern campus — this work is organized with a house on campus with a chapel, the function of many years of work and effort on Father Hess' part.

James Millay, Jr., left last week for Monmouth College to begin his Naval Aviation Cadet training. He is scheduled to spend 12 weeks at this station.

25th wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kost

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kost were invited to the home of Mrs. Grace Lorenzen to supper on Saturday evening. They expected to celebrate Mr. Haake's birthday. After the arrival of twenty relatives and kindfoks, Lura and George were "surprised." The party was to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage. They were showered with congratulations and pleasing gifts.

Mrs. Lorenzen had arranged cafeteria refreshments of salad, meat, rolls and fruit ring. Silver and white color scheme for place cards and favors gave a sparkling background to the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wiese and son, James, unable to be present, phoned congratulations from Indianapolis, joining all friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Kost many happy returns of their anniversary.

When Mrs. Kost saw the trend of the program, she went home and brought back a spray of silver oak leaves that had been ornaments used when her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. MacNab, celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary. Games were enjoyed.

A Doctor Can Aid The Aged

by C. W. LUSSMAN
of Sieburg Pharmacy

"The best is yet to be" said a famous English poet, meaning that the last of life brings rewards unknown to youth. The best is only realized when one retains health.

Doctors work unceasingly to save and to prolong life. Their efforts would be in vain were it not possible to prolong the individual's joy in living. For this, health is essential.

Let your doctor aid you to get the best out of your declining years.

'Banjos for Bluejackets' next 'Bundles' project

The current theme song of Bundles for America is "Banjos for Bluejackets." A coast guard officer went into the Chicago headquarters and asked if a banjo could be found for his men. Investigation revealed that hundreds of these musical instruments would be appreciated by the navy as well as the coast guard. Here was one more way in which Bundles for America could do something for men in the service.

With customary zeal officers of the organization got busy and through the units, the newspapers and radio the public is given an opportunity to lend a hand. A contribution of 50c and up will help build up the banjo fund. Lyon and Healy company has offered to sell new instruments at an appreciable discount. It will also put used ones in first class condition without charge. This firm has turned over a display window at Jackson and Wabash to further the cause. Here a cat in snappy navy uniform holds a placard asking for used banjos or a cash donation.

The Arlington Heights unit of Bundles for America has contributed $35.00 for a new banjo. With the help of residents of the village, who have never failed to cooperate, many hours of relaxation and enjoyment will be available to sailors. Perhaps at one time Johnny or Suzy aspired to be the world's best banjoist. Interest lagged eventually and the music maker was put away in attic or closet. Now is the time to get it out and place it in the hands of service men on the seas, both those guarding the home shores and those

Canteen corps holds first meeting

The members of the Red Cross Canteen, recently organized in Arlington Heights, met Monday afternoon in the field house to hear Lt. Arnold of Park Ridge tell of the work of the Canteen Corps, in Park Ridge. She told of the valuable experience gained through the course and of the many duties they have been called upon to perform since the corps has been organized.

The Park Ridge Corps has taken over the duty of feeding the inductees before they leave for duty, of providing luncheons for the production units of Red Cross, who have increased their membership in a single day meeting from 60 to 90 through this service, and of the valuable aid their corps has given to the hospitals in Chicago, through the volunteer work of members of their corps, who have furnished two women a week for nurses aid duty in the Passavant and Presbyterian hospitals.

The women who have signed up for the Canteen course in the village and who were present at the meeting are anticipating with pleasure the service they will be able to render the community at the completion of the course. There are still a few openings, and anyone interested is asked to contact the Canteen chairman, Mrs. Marion Hannigan, tel 528.

'Put homes on wartime footing'—home bureau

"Putting our homes on a wartime footing" was the keynote of the annual meeting of the Cook County Home Bureau which was held Wednesday, March 3, at Carson, Pirie, Scott Co., Chicago. Two hundred and fifty women characterized by one speaker as among "the most active, alert, and eager-to-learn women of the county" attended the all-day meeting which included luncheon and a fashion show. This attendance represented well over half of the Cook County Home Bureau membership which in February totaled 416 active members.

Reports of the 19 unit chairmen were evidence that Home Bureau members were most interested this past year in projects that helped them to adjust their homes to war conditions. These projects included Canning and Preserving, Bread Making, and Repair of Home Furnishings, and lessons on sewing, all of which when done by the homemaker release manpower for more vital war work.

President speaks

In her report as President of the Cook County Home Bureau, Mrs. Ray Chambers, LaGrange, stressed the importance of personal adjustment to war-time conditions. She said, "As we, as Home Bureau members, keeping pace with the needs of our families who are now in the service and who, thru travel and actual contact with those of other nationalities, are gaining an international viewpoint? Are we wasting our efforts in non-essential activities or are we evaluating the organizations to which we give our time in terms of the war effort? Are we confining our reading to the local paper or are we reading for self-advancement and to broaden the scope of our understanding of other peoples and races?"

In addition to the reports of the unit chairmen and the President's message, the morning session included other officer and committee reports and the summary of the activities of the year by Mrs. Marie Cornelius, Home Adviser.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Ray Chambers, LaGrange, President; Mrs. Frank Fender, Barrington, Vice-President; Mrs. Paul Sanders, Palos-Lesport, Secretary; Mrs. Marshall Lindberg, Wheeling, Treasurer; Mrs. E. W. Fritz, Wheeling, Membership Chairman; Mrs. A. G. Rose, LaGrange, Recreation Chairman; Mrs. Hlavacek, Worth, 4-H Club Chairman; Mrs. C. J. Hill, Des Plaines, and Mrs. A. Zuidema, Worth, Project Chairmen. Mrs. J. W. Cory, Northeast District Director of the Illinois Home Bureau Federation, installed the officers and heard members.

At the afternoon meeting Mrs. Albert Schaefer, Barrington, and Mrs. Margaret Wortman, Bremen, reported some of the events of the Annual Farm and Home Week held in February at the University of Illinois and Myrtle Williams, Lyonsville 4-H Club member, spoke of the benefits she had received from 4-H Club work.

Auditor Laurin, Geo. Schneberger are grandpas

Geo. F. Schneberger and E. F. Laurin are both wearing big smiles since Tuesday. They are grandpas to the finest and prettiest girl ever born in Miami. George has named the little girl "Georgia," Elmer has not yet decided what he is going to call her. The grandmas are not saying a thing.

The little Miss who has given them that privilege is the new baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schneberger of Miami, Florida, who checked in Tuesday morning in a Miami hospital at a little over six pounds, and immediately wired that she and Mom (the former Shirley Laurin) are both doing fine.

Daddy, who is an air pilot for Eastern Airlines is really "flying high" these days.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

CRUSADERS always have a hard time of it. They not only have to point out the wrongs they are combatting; they also have to convince others to act. That's what Colonel Effingham runs up against, in Berry Fleming's new novel, "Colonel Effingham's Raid," when he tries to reform the small Southern town of Fredericksville, Georgia.

BERRY FLEMING

Narrator of this story is an easy-going young reporter named Albert Marbury, on the staff of The Leader. Albert's chief troubles, up to the time the story begins, have been concerned with such things as keeping the pretty young Society editor, Ella Sue, in her proper place. Then one day Albert gets a telephone call from a man who announces he is "Cousin Willie."

"Cousin Willie" turns out to be W. Seaborn Effingham, Colonel U. S. Army, retired, an officer, a gentleman, and a citizen, in the best sense of the words. But Albert doesn't understand this all at once. In fact, when the Colonel offers to do a column of war commentary for The Leader, Albert is deeply embarrassed. Members of good Southern families aren't supposed to get their names into print. Even then he did not foresee the Colonel's liberal interpretation of what was suitable to discuss in his column, "On the Firing Line." The first target of his indignation is directed against the politicians who are planning to rename the central square of the town, dedicated to the brave Confederate dead, after Pud Toolen, a local boss of unsavory reputation. He makes more sparks fly when he learns that these same politicians intend to tear down the beautiful historical courthouse, so that graft can be distributed in the building of a new one.

Many women are aroused, and some men, too, by the Colonel's really military campaigns against political corruption. But not enough to do anything. One reason is that the Colonel has underestimated the power of the local sense of humor. In Fredericksville, it is bad form to be serious about anything.

But he doesn't admit defeat. For one thing, there's Albert, this lackadaisical young reporter, who finds himself, partly because of the Colonel and partly because of Ella Sue (who turns out to be a pretty nice girl, after all), first in the National Guard, then in the Army, going off to fight for his country. And who knows how many others have been stirred out of their complacency?

"Colonel Effingham's Raid" is a March Book-of-the-Month Club choice, along with another novel of small-town life, William Saroyan's "The Human Comedy."

Save your grease to save our boys

Is a pound of grease better than a pound of "cure?" Do you prefer to grease the skids under "the Axis" or to have "the Axis" place the skids under you? Sure, I know your answer — but tell me — WHAT ARE YOU DOING ABOUT IT? Well, you can do plenty. SAVE ALL YOUR KITCHEN GREASES. When you have saved a pound or more, bring it to your butcher. This grease contains approximately 12 percent glycerine, which is one of the components of TNT, a high explosive. That chicken grease you threw away last week might have saved the life of one of our brave fighters. DON'T DO IT AGAIN. Grease Conservation Committee

IN MEMORIAM

Dierking — Gladys Dierking in loving memory of my beloved daughter who passed away March 13, 1933, ten years ago today.

I often sit and think of you, No eyes can see me weep, But deep within my aching heart, Your memory I shall always keep; 'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again.

Where parting is no more, And that the one I loved so dearly, Has only gone before. Hy. J. Dierking.

"It sure is great to read the home town paper, makes me feel a whole lot closer to my friends, knowing where they are and what they're doing.

"I had just completed my training here, ready to leave for primary school, when I was taken ill with pneumonia and missed my shipment. They immediately sent me to the base hospital where I received the very best of care. After a whole month of rest and relaxation, I am once again anxious to continue my vigorous training as one of Uncle Sam's future pilots.

My new address is Av/C Wilbert Behrens, Preflight School (Pilot) 10-1-A SAACC, San Antonio, Texas.

"Boot" training consists of instruction in the rudiments of seamanship, naval customs and procedure, participation in a strict physical conditioning program and taking a series of aptitude tests. The latter are used to determine what type of work each recruit will be assigned upon finishing training.

Mississippi

Pvt. William McQuaid of Arlington Heights sends a bulletin this week from Camp McCain, Mississippi.

Africa

Pvt. John Nickol of Arlington Heights sends a bulletin this week from Africa.

"I'm way out here, a long way from my favorite hangout at Arlington. I could really go for some of that home brew they put out Chicago way. Africa doesn't boast of any brew that even approaches that home town stuff."

"When the president was over here, I was a member of the guard of honor for him. He passed by in a jeep only a few feet from me. I saw many generals that day and Harry Hopkins. Roosevelt wore a grey suit and a dark hat. He certainly has aged since '32."

"I'm feeling swell myself, but wish I was home. Some day I'll be back and I'm going to have two of everything in the house. Hope some of the gang back home writes to me."

Jay-Jay's address is Pvt. John J. Nickol, 36032041, APO No. 3, c/o Postmaster, New York City.

Clarence Zuelsdorf of Palatine writes this week from Africa.

"Have been receiving the Palatine Enterprise over here and it certainly is swell to get the home town news. The work of the legion and auxiliary in sending the paper to all the boys is a worthwhile service."

"Army regulations prevent me from saying much about our location. It's plenty hot here during the day, but it cools off at night for sleeping."

"I'll be glad to hear from any of the folks back home. My address is Pfc. Clarence Zuelsdorf ASN 36305883, c/o Postmaster, New York City."

England

Lt. Alvin Kahling of Arlington Heights V-mail's this week from England.

"See where Dick Dueball and Glen Granzin got married. That leaves just Bubblitz, Laseke and Len Thake as the bachelors of the crowd. However, I'm sure that Dick, Glenn and myself will be able to get the war departments to consent to an occasional get-together on Saturday afternoons."

Alvin is no longer with the field artillery. His address is APO 887 c/o PM, New York City.

One of the first bits of mail to reach Staff Sergeant Maurice Ross of Mt. Prospect who is stationed in England, was the Mt. Prospect Herald. "It sure looks swell over here," writes Maurice.

Kansas

Robert Ross of Mt. Prospect has been promoted to corporal at Camp Phillips, Kansas, it was revealed this week. Ross has been serving in the 919th field artillery battalion for two months. Prior to his enlistment he attended Indiana and Purdue universities.

Illinois

California

Robert W. Jacobs, of 130 S. Mitchell Ave., Arlington Heights, a Naval Aviation cadet, has been ordered to report for active duty at the Naval Flight Preparatory school University of Southern California, Los Angeles, it was announced today by the Chicago Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board.

Cadet Jacobs, a graduate of Foreman high school, was specially chosen for the west coast assignment. He was enlisted during the "Fly for Navy" drive last fall.

The Southern California Naval Flight Preparatory school, one of twenty recently organized, serves as a cadet's first step in his flight training program. The schools were created to give the young men who will fly for Navy an insight into ground school subjects, mathematics, physics and Naval essentials.

On completion of flight prep school, the cadet is assigned to a War Training Service school (formerly known as Civilian Pilot Training) where he continues his aviation studies and receives approximately forty hours actual flying time. From the War Training Service school he will report to a Navy pre-flight training school and thence to a Navy air station where after graduation the young flyer is commissioned an ensign in the Navy Air Force and is awarded the Navy wings of gold.

Sergeant Ralph Taege of Arlington Heights writes this week from desert maneuvers in California.

"We have been gone from our base camp since the 14th of February and will continue our maneuvers for one more week. We have been plenty busy. These maneuvers are the closest to actual combat we could have with trenches, barbed wire entanglements, land mines, airplanes attacking our supply lines, and many gas attacks with tear gas. The engineers are using dynamite to blow up passes through mountains and simulate artillery fire."

"So far, since the beginning of the maneuvers on the 14th I have bounced across 1870 miles of the desert and, boy, will I ever be glad to get out of here."

"We have had to go for three and four days without food and water because our supply lines were captured by the red army and then when they finally came through, they were only the army 'C' ration. Some of the people in civilian life may be complaining about everything being rationed and hard to get. They should be in our boots just for a week and see how we have to live, breathing this dust all day, sleeping on the ground, and not even having water to drink, let alone wash or shave with."

"One thing I'm sure glad about is that in another week we'll move to Camp Cook, California, for three to six months. Regards to everyone at home."

Ralph's address is Serv. Co. 69th AR, APO 256 c/o PM, Los Angeles.

Private William J. McCartney of Arlington Heights, who has recently been inducted into the service, is now stationed at Camp Roberts, California, and in sending his address to his mother, Mrs. Kenneth Heimlich, says he would be glad to hear from any and all of his friends.

His address is Private William J. McCartney Co. C. 87th Infantry Tgt. Bn. 1st Platoon, Camp Roberts, California.

Private John Roche of Arlington Heights recently inducted into the army and stationed at Ft. Sheridan, was home for the week-end. Private James Jirak also stationed at Ft. Sheridan, spent Sunday with his family. Both boys will soon be sent to other locations.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Henke of Palatine received a pleasant surprise early Sunday evening when they received a call from their son, Frank, stationed at Camp Beale, California. Frank states Palatine is o. k., but he still prefers Palatine.

Pfc. Elmer N. Iversen, of Mt. Prospect is somewhere in Alaska. His letters are heavily censored so he has little to say about where he is.

He was inducted April 14, 1942 at Scott Field, Belleville, Ill. From there he went to Camp Robinson, Arkansas where he acquired some "sharp-shooter" medals. He left with the Infantry for Seattle, in August, from there they embarked for the north country.

He said the temperature was 40 below zero. When it gets cold they just put on another necktie and feel comfortable. There is plenty to eat, and he has gained weight. He thinks there is nothing like army life.

The boys have movies every night. There have been several traveling shows, including Bob Hope and Edgar Bergen and Charlie and some USO talent.

Pfc. Iversen receives the Mt. Prospect Herald regularly and would like to have some news of the "old timers" such as Art Grimm and Don Hinz.

Alaska

Libya

George Weisgerber of Arlington Heights writes this week from overseas. When last reported, Red was in Egypt, but he is known to now be in Libya.

"A sandstorm has just vent its fury and now comes the job of 'digging out.' Sand fills everything from ears to shoes. After a while, though, you get used to it. Have moved again and we are located on the edge of an oasis. There is green grass and palm trees here. First in a long time. Romantic picture, but no romance."

"Have seen Mussolini's colonization effort and I must say he did a pretty good job of it. Turning this waste land into fertile farms was no small task. There are quite a few Italians still here. The Germans are said to have driven them out, but the Italians are coming back."

"We now have three types of money to put up with: Egyptian, Italian and British military money. Trying to remember values is quite a problem."

"Have had a chance to rest the last few days and so have caught up on my reading. Just finished 'Beau Geste.' I couldn't have picked a better spot to read it as this is practically in its natural setting."

"You probably know more of the war than I do. Today we were particularly lucky to get a paper only four days old. I have been well and haven't lost any weight, 'early to bed, etc.'"

George's address is S/Sgt. G. F. Weisgerber, 36038816, APO 785 c/o PM, New York.

Jack is enjoying life on a university campus, but regretted leaving the warm weather enjoyed at Miami Beach.

First Sergeant George Dresser of Mt. Prospect has returned to Indian Town Gap military reservation in Pennsylvania. He had spent a short furlough at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dresser.

Arlington pilot
in air service to
South America

Bud Schneberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Schneberger, is one Arlington Heights young man who is doing his bit to help win the war and yet is not wearing Uncle Sam's uniform. He is flying the South Atlantic on regular schedule for Eastern Airlines which is giving air service to many U. S. camps in South America.

His parents received last week a very interesting letter from their son. The Herald will have to censor some of the places he names, but here is his letter in part:

"We left Miami at 4:20, arriving at Puerto Rico at 9:35, leaving almost immediately for British Guiana, where we arrived six hours later. When I woke up in the morning I thought the draft had caught me at last—the bugle was blowing. Five hours, 41 minutes later we were in Brazil."

"We went to a home in the nice residential district. The woman and her daughters who own the place are French and Brazilian. They speak English and are very nice. The place is nice and clean. We sleep under mosquito netting at night. The food was good. They have a six course dinner. The little Brazilian maids bring around big platters of food and serve us individually. We had soup, shrimp and rice, fish, chicken, filet mignon, and dessert. However, it sound a little better than it really is, but is still much better than I expected, and better than we get in Georgetown and Natal."

"We got up in Belem at 2 a. m. It took us 6:03 to get to Natal. We flew over jungle and I mean jungle, until we got to the Amazon. I was flying along and had just started across the mouth of the Amazon when Capt. Fitts threw a bucket of water on me and said, 'Bob, you're one of Neptunes children now.' We'd just crossed the equator. More damn fun! When we got to Natal it was about 9:30 a. m., and we had another so called breakfast in the officers mess. We had the usual pancakes. They tasted like I imagine flannel would. We came back to Belem from Natal at 5:30. We spent the night there again. Next day we left about 4 a. m. and flew to Georgetown in 4:36. Then we flew on to Borinquen and stayed there that night."

"Borinquen is a wonderful spot. It's just like a small country club. The Officers Club is beautiful and is on a bluff. Standing in the bar we could look down 50 feet right into the water, and it's the bluest water I've ever seen. At breakfast instead of throwing pancakes at us they have a menu and we eat what we want. It's the nuts."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The tradition of American cavalry threads back to Indian warfare days and although modern armies are largely motorized today, the cavalry still plays an important role. Sturdy, well trained horses and excellent equipment and trappings are necessary.

When men are in the saddle for hours, their saddles, saddle rolls and other equipment must be made to stand the wear. Complete with carbine and helmets, the equipment for the cavalryman runs into hundreds of dollars. You can help provide this with your War Bond purchases. If you have not done so, join the Payroll Savings Plan and put ten percent of your income into War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

Chemical Industry Aid

Wheeling author contributes to national book

Mr. Rex Blain, Milwaukee ave., Wheeling, is one of the authors whose work is published in "The Spirit of America," a 600-page book of poems and lyrics just published. This is a volume which speaks for all Americans, for all freedom-loving people in this war crisis. As such, it is a definite contribution to the national morale and the war effort.

Through publication of this book may be found the song of victory for which the United Nations have been waiting... Thousands of authors located in every part of the country competed for a place in this volume. Many of the authors are writers whose work has been published in other important publications and magazines, and some of them are authors of books of their own. To have won a place in this volume is therefore an important literary achievement.

At a later date, a similar volume may be prepared by the same publishers, The Haven Press, 55 West 42nd St., New York City, and writers who are interested in competing for a place in the new book are invited to write to the publishers for a copy of the rules of entry.

Rent control

(By Earl Dean Howard, Area Rent Director)

For Landlords: A room in a private household, rented to a "paying guest" must be registered with the rent director exactly as a rented house, apartment or hotel room is registered. But the so-called "non-eviction" sections of the rent regulation, barring the eviction of tenants except under specified circumstances, do not apply where there are less than three roomers in a private household. In such cases the roomers may be asked to leave whenever they become unwelcome to the household for any reason at all. If there are three or more roomers, different rules apply.

For Tenants: A new tenant moving into a house or apartment should ask for, and is entitled by law, to see and sign the landlord's copy of the landlord's registration statement. This statement shows the maximum legal rent the tenant should pay and the services to which the tenant is entitled.

If the landlord does not have a copy of his registration statement or an order from the rent director adjusting the rent, he probably has not registered as required by law.

Give Refunds

Refunds totaling $19,901.50 were made in the last two weeks to tenants of the Chicago Defense Rental Area by landlords whose charges exceeded the March 1, 1942 rent ceiling, it was announced today by John F. McCarthy, chief OPA rent attorney for Cook, Lake, Kane and DuPage counties.

The 997 landlords involved had overcharged through ignorance or misunderstanding of the rent regulations, McCarthy said. He explained that landlords are called before enforcement attorneys in such cases, and after an explanation of the regulations are given opportunity to make restitution to the tenants. Where evidence indicates that the violation has been deliberate, however, the rent office will take further action if the circumstances warrant it, McCarthy emphasized.

McCarthy also pointed out that a tenant, in each case of an overcharge, may sue his landlord for three times the amount of the overcharge or $50, whichever is greater, plus attorney's fees and court costs.

OPA rent attorneys closed 1,376 overcharge cases in the last two weeks after conferences with landlords, dismissing 379 in which no actual violations were found. More than 5,000 cases remain to be disposed of by conferences, in addition to those requiring other types of action, McCarthy said.

Steals four cars in 26 hours

A seventeen-year-old Barrington youth set some sort of record recently when he stole four cars in twenty-six hours, it was revealed last week.

The youth stole his first car, Wauconda owner, in Barrington, drove to Woodstock, picked the second, driving to Judah, Wisconsin, grabbed the third and drove to Rockford, then stealing his fourth auto and driving back to Woodstock. It was here that he was apprehended and admitted the thefts.

Des Plaines 'son' run out of town

Norman Best of Peoria, recently adopted "son" of Des Plaines was run out of town last week. Best is the war worker who slept on the city hall steps one night last fall, blasting the Des Plaines housing shortage in the same breath. Citizens of that city took up the cry, gave him a special place to park his car, and found lodging for him and his family. Then the fun started. One after another checks written by Best, drawn on many different banks, began to reappear marked NSF. Best was hauled into court, admitted guilt, reimbursed the merchants and was given twenty-four hours to get out of town. He left.

PARK RIDGE COLLECTS 21,000 LBS. OF CANS

Park Ridge collected many times an expected amount of salvaged tin cans last week when trucks picked up 21,000 pounds in one day. Local salvage trucks were unable to handle the "business," so the city pitched in with men and trucks to finish the job. The city has 23 salvage stations scattered throughout its boundaries.

Your Income Tax

LOSSES OF FARMERS

Losses incurred in the operation of farms as business enterprises are deductible from gross income. If farm products are held for favorable markets, no deduction on account of shrinkage in weight or physical value, or by reason of deterioration in storage, is allowed, except as such shrinkage may be reflected in an inventory if used in determining profits.

The destruction by frost, storm, flood, or fire of a prospective crop is not a deductible loss in computing income since it represents the loss of anticipated profits which have never been reported as income. Likewise, a farmer engaged in raising and selling livestock, such as cattle, sheep, and hogs, is not entitled to claim as a loss the value of animals that perish from among those animals that were raised on the farm, except as such loss is reflected in an inventory, if used. If livestock has been purchased for any purpose, and afterward dies from disease, exposure, or injury, or is killed by order of the authorities of a State or the United States, the actual purchase price of such livestock, less any depreciation allowable as a deduction in respect of such perished livestock, may be deducted as a loss if the loss is not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. The actual cost of other property (with proper adjustments for depreciation) which is destroyed by order of State or Federal authorities may likewise be claimed as a loss. If reimbursement is made by a State or the United States in whole or in part on account of stock killed or other property destroyed in respect of which a loss was claimed in a prior year, the amount received is required to be reported as income for the year in which reimbursement is made. The cost of any feed, pasture, or care which has been deducted as an expense of operation must not be included as part of the cost of the stock for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of a deductible loss.

If gross income is ascertained by the use of inventories, no deduction can be taken separately for livestock or products lost during the year. If such losses will be reflected in the inventory by reducing the amount of livestock or products on hand at the close of the year, which has the effect of reducing gross income from business by the amount of the loss.

If an individual owns and operates a farm in addition to being engaged in another trade or business or calling, and sustains a loss from the farming operations, such loss may be deducted from gross income received from all sources in determining the taxpayer's net income, provided such farm is not operated for recreation or pleasure.

If a farm is operated for recreation or pleasure and not on a commercial basis, and if the expenses incurred in connection therewith are in excess of the receipts therefrom, the entire receipts from the sale of products may be ignored in rendering a return of income, and the expenses incurred, being regarded as personal expenses, will not constitute allowable deductions for Federal income tax purposes.

Controlling Rust on Roof

At the first sign of rust, says D. S. Weaver, extension agricultural engineer of North Carolina State college, or when the roof shows dark discoloration, the galvanized roofing should be painted with metallic zinc paint. Before applying the paint, the roof should be put in good physical shape and all gutters and low places should be cleaned of fallen leaves and dirt. If the roof has been painted with any kind of paint previously, all loose and scaly parts must be removed with a wire brush, rinsing the roof with water, and allowing it to dry.

National wealth tops record 133 billion

Civilian goods climb to 95 billion in spite of war

Americans made and mined and grew and performed goods and services with a gross value of $133,800,000,000 on the fiscal year ended June 30, 1942, the Department of Commerce has just computed. This is a new all-time high — not surprising in view of the vast stepping up of economic effort as part of the war program. Surprising, however, is this fact — that government spending did not cut the rise in goods and services for civilian use. This advanced to $95,800,000,000 on the 1942 year, which was higher than the combined civilian and government output in 1940.

Amateur statisticians, fascinated as always by such large and gleefully all-inclusive figures, began figuring that what the Commerce Department calls our "gross national product" at $133,800,000,000, meant that we had each made a contribution of about $1,000 to the national wealth during the year. And if you think that's small, remember that that's on the basis of the total population, including the children and the old, the crippled and the blind, the stay-at-homes wives and mothers and the young folks who are still being educated — and the men in the armed services. If all these are deducted from population to compute how much each of us turned up for the national wealth, it makes a mighty good showing, and it proves again that when the American people get mad enough to roll up their sleeves and get to work, they produce!

Steel tires

Those new non-skid airplane tires with steel coils laced into the tread are a complete departure from previous efforts to combine metal with rubber for skid-free take-offs on icy runways and in arctic climes. J. S. Pedler, manager of the aeronautics division of B. F. Goodrich, which developed it, explained that the new tire has parallel rows of continuous coils, rather than individual metal lugs, imbedded in the tread so the edges grip on ice and snow. Effective metal-tread tires have been the goal of tire engineers for many years, but the demands of the global war for uninterrupted operation of planes even in regions where there's nothing much else but ice, has greatly intensified research in recent months. Pedler explained that skid resistance is needed in plane tires not only to give the powerful brakes a grip, but also to facilitate skid-free take-offs. He pointed out that "as an aid to safe flying the ice tires are in the tradition of the company's development of de-icers self-sealing fuel tanks special brake equipment and other flight aids."

Belly-scooters

"Belly-scooters" developed for draftsmen who lay out plans for bombers, now to be used also to ease such tasks as painting and scrubbing floors. . . . Ethyl acetate and dibutyl phthalate mixtures to add to fuel oil to prevent formation of gum which "gums up" oil burners. . . . Wood wheels — and spokes — for bicycles, while the wire goes to war. . . . Clear glass water faucets — heat-resistant and resembling radio dials — so you can "tune in" to hot or cold in your shower. . . . Paint-brush bristles to replace the nylon bristles, which were developed to replace hog bristles formerly imported from China.

Aviation

Developments to date make it possible to see the time of automatic flying coming within a few years, according to Ernest R. Breech, president of Bendix Aviation Corporation. The company's 2,500 engineers have taken on the job of eliminating the element of human error in flying. Mr. Breech recently told his stockholders at the annual meeting. The average person wants to fly his own plane if he can fly safely and automatically, and new scientific discoveries, some of which are now in mass production for United Nations military aircraft, are going to turn this dream into a reality, according to this industry leader. Meeting war requirements for scientific instruments and controls for military aviation and other industries lifted war production of Bendix during 1942 to 20 times that of pre-war levels. More than one-third of this huge increase in volume production consisted of new devices that were not even on the market in 1938. For example, to equip fully a

400 submarines

Secretary of the Navy Knox, discussing the submarine situation, told reporters that the Germans have between 300 and 400 submarines available for operations in the Atlantic. He pointed out, however, that a considerable portion of these are not active, as a large percentage of their time consumed in going to and from selected areas of operations. As for the recent RAF and USAAF bombings of Nazi submarine bases on the coast of France, Mr. Knox said the attacks are proving effective but just how effective in terms of direct hits he could not say.

Pork ceilings

On April 1 1943, ceiling prices will be fixed on all retail sales of fresh and processed pork. The United States is divided into eleven zones, in each of which the pork prices will vary for different classes of retail stores. Prices in OPA maximum price regulation 336 take the place of all previous ceiling prices. On and after April 1, a retailer may sell only (1) Pork cuts given dollars and cents prices under OPA 336, and (2) Pork products whose prices are fixed under General Maximum Price Regulation, including pork sausage, canned pork, pork variety meats or offal (include temple meat cutlets, brains, chitterlings, liver, plucks, kidneys, tongues, lips, snouts, ears, hearts, cheek and head meat, stomachs, weasand meat and heads), and quick frozen.

Stockings

Since the beginning of the stocking salvage campaign three months ago, 12,522,540 pairs of silk and nylon stockings have been salvaged by the women of America for war use. In the third month period which ended February 15th, 253,969 pounds of hosiery were collected in stocking salvage depots of thousands of retail stores. This is an increase of 81.4 per cent over the first month collection figure, bringing the total up to 626,127 pounds.

Lumber

To stimulate production of lumber and other forest products required for war and essential civilian needs, WPB has set up a program to: (1) locate and transport labor; (2) obtain greater employment of women in the industry; (3) locate stumpage for existing operations and put operators in touch with owners of merchantable forest products; (4) present draft deferment needs of logging and milling operatives before Selective Service Boards; (5) present the needs of logging and milling operators before local Ration Boards; (6) present factual data when establishment or modification of ceiling prices is necessary.

Peanuts

Maximum prices on peanuts — from farm to consumer — have been established by OPA. Specific dollars-per-ton maximums were set at the farm level with specific cents-per-pound maximums for shellers, sales, and formulas for establishing prices for other sales subject to the regulation. Farm maximums are above 100 per cent parity and will be reduced slightly. Prices on shelled peanuts will be reduced from 3/4 to 1/4 cents a pound under those prevailing in December, 1942.

War Workers Are Soldiers Too

"Hi, come on, the food's ready."

Ruth is volunteer snack-bar hostess at a USO "Owl Club." There's coffee and homemade pie waiting.

It's midnight in a war production town. Men and women workers—Ruth is one—have just come off the night shift. They've been loading powder or inspecting cartridges or building airplanes.

As production schedules speed up, nerves are on edge. To quote one war plant girl: "Everything is speed, more speed. Afterward you're too keyed up to go right to bed. But where can you go for fun in this crazy boom town? The movie closes before midnight. There's only a pool hall and an all-night diner open. No decent place to dance or entertain. The work is hard. But the loneliness is worse!"

The life of war-plant workers was much more difficult before the United Service Organizations tackled the recreation problem. Now USO, through the National Young Women's Christian Association and other member agencies, is fulfilling both functions for which it was founded at government request: providing service to men in uniform and to war production workers in overburdened communities. The helps build morale among men of the armed forces and the men and women fighting the battle of production behind the lines.

"Laughing workers are lasting workers" is its slogan for the fun drive in war-plant towns. It provides play, sports and hobby programs for all work shifts at all hours. Dances, parties, amateur plays, moonlight fishing, handicrafts, sings, orchestras, shadow clubs, star-gazing groups, sunrise weenie roasts, cycling parties and horseback rides are a few of the refreshing USO frolics at which war workers pay their own way.

But fun planning is only half of the USO job. The bigger task is giving practical aid of a hundred kinds to whole families packed into bare rooms on cots, or into crowded housing projects without play space, or into bleak trailer colonies; and helping war workers who are forced to rent "hot beds"—beds that literally never have a chance to cool because they're occupied around the clock in 8-hour shifts. To all these, to the old and ill, to expectant mothers and lonely youngsters, USO brings aid and comfort.

At a busy club in Illinois, trailer families use the kitchen when they entertain. A group of middle-aged men make themselves rice pudding once a week. Twenty-five lonely young men are now a Thursday Night Supper Club. And once a week a square dance is held, attended not only by war workers but by many townspeople as well.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

March 5, 1943
Dear Eleanor:
"You either belong to the wind-swept plains
Or your heart is held by the hills,
You are either a part of the rippling grass,
Or level meadows where sunlight spills
A golden flood over fields of grain,
Where the stars slip lightly from tree to tree.
And the shadows shift with the changing lights."

If you find pleasure in pasture and plain,
The hills may be walls and dark prison bars,
While plains can be chilling and bleak to the ones
Who have lived with the shadows,
The tree-touching stars;
And what does it matter, the highlands or low?
Where each makes a HOME,
there beauty will grow."

It must have looked like the return of Noah's Ark to our new neighbors the day we moved in. Even though we spent a good part of the week before bringing trailer loads of equipment, grain, hay, etc. to the barn, we couldn't bring the animals until the final moving day. In my weariness and waiting for the movers to arrive with our things, (will you please tell me why they are always late?) the sight of the van moving slowly up the road followed by the old Chevy pulling a horse trailer was a welcome and amusing one. I was just tired enough so I didn't care whether anyone was here to share my laughter or not. I had a good loud laugh to an empty room, and the sound was startling, even a little eerie!

There was Bobby accompanied on the front seat of the Chevy by MacDuff with his ears pointed high and his loud barking giving forth the notice, or so it seemed to me, "well, here we are, what are you going to do about it?" The back seat of the floor was crowded with chickens and ducks; a few managing to stick their heads out of the gunny sacks to cackle and quack. Then the trailer which was attached to the car followed with Bonnie standing high over its side. I've decided there isn't a haughtier looking animal than a thoroughbred horse. She looked every bit a queen with her head held so high, and her mantle (blanket) of brown draped over her back.

There wasn't room in the trailer or to bring Daisy-June or Clemmie at that time and it was just as well. Clemmie likes to kick now and then, and I imagine Bonnie could do her share of the same sort of thing if she had a mind to. We lost two chickens in the move; one, poor thing, apparently had its neck broken and another escaped from Rob's reach as she was taking them from the sacks to put in the chicken yard. She scampered off and hasn't been seen or heard of since. The rest of the menagerie arrived unscathed.

About the house; it is old, but of course, by this time you must think we have a passion for old houses. We have. Though this one isn't as old as the farm house. What it lacks in architectural charm, it makes up for in conveniences. It has large sunny rooms and for a family our size that is delightful. We no longer bump into each other as we pass in the upstairs hall. We are enjoying a fine heating system that gives us uniform temperature all hours of the day and night. And Praise the Lord, (you can skip the ammunition) a hot bath with plenty of soft water can be had any minute for the mere touch of a bathroom tap!

As I've said before, maybe getting along as our Grandparent's did CAN be done, (I think we've proved that fact) still, I do appreciate having a bathroom again. It was the one, and perhaps only convenience that I truly missed on the farm. The author of "We Took to the Woods," says she likes to think that living as the pioneer Fathers did, is an excellent way to develop character. And she, with her husband and little son, are doing just that, away up in the dense Maine forests. By the way, we did get such satisfaction in reading that book. It was so easy to compare some of their situations with ours on the farm. But, enough of us!

So, Dave has joined the Coast Guard Reserve! I think I have known all along how he has felt about this matter of getting right "in there and pitching," but I agree with you that he could face Dave and Louis' question, "What did you do in the war, Daddy?" with justifiable pride and with no remorse of conscience if he answered in truth, "I gave you a good and happy home. I gave the government all the funds I could spare to carry on the fight for justice. I gave all my extra time to further the good work in our community. I helped in building a better future for all the other little fellows like you."

General MacArthur said the other day: "By profession I am a soldier and I take pride in that fact, but I am prouder, infinitely prouder, to be a father. A soldier destroys in order to build; the father only builds, never destroys. The one has the potentialities of death; the other embodies creation and life. And while the hordes of death are mighty, the battalions of life are mightier still." Fine sentiment, don't you agree?

I was reading that in military parlance, the average homemaker must be an adjutant, finance officer, top sergeant, liaison officer, chief of staff, billposting officer, chief quartermaster, mess officer, supply officer, and morale officer. And on top of that she must be cute, too! So, I guess you and I need have no worry about how we can serve our country in this man's war, if we win stripes for half of those titles, eh what?

If there's the slightest chance of Dave getting a car and enough gas to make the trip out here, for gracious sake drop anything you may be doing and come! I simply won't wait until after Estelle or Jewel Dow put in an appearance, for then your excuse will be "I can't possibly go out that far and leave Mother with a new baby to feed every four hours!"

Love to every one from every one of us,
Mary

A Better Rest
We often come near to rest in life, and then are cheated of it; and after that we reach a better rest through disappointment—better because it was not of our own choice, and better as it proves in its very self.

Eskimo Delicacy
The natives of Greenland regard raw bird meat, especially the little dovekie, a great delicacy. They eat the breast and throw the rest away, but the skins make warm shirts.

'Longer hours' real solution of local farm labor problem

"After meeting with numerous committees to consider the farm labor problem for 1943," says Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes, "we are certain of only one thing and that is farmers have little prospect for a supply of experienced labor for this year. We have been asked and commanded to make demands that soldiers be deferred, farmers be exempted, Mexicans be assured, etc. All this has been done in a more effective way than we could do it individually. Through Dean H. P. Rusk a survey of a sample of farmers from Cook and all other counties of the state was made which showed a possible decrease in agricultural production of from 10 to 20%. This report was sent in from this and other states which did get to the proper authorities. It was publicized and in our opinion, was the most effective statement that got to Washington.

"At a recent meeting Mr. D. A. Thompson, associate editor of Prairie Farmer asked, 'Is there a real shortage of farm labor, or as some maintain is it imaginary, because most agencies report only a very small demand for farm help. What are the facts?'

"Our answer was, 'There is a real shortage, and the reason why there are no large demands for help from farmers are, first, if experienced help were available farmers would hire plenty of men. Again most of them cannot pay wages some help is asking. We agree that factories are taking inexperienced help and training them. Farmers have not had to deal with green help and they are not accustomed to training new help. Furthermore, factories have trainees on industrial jobs. It isn't easy to train a man to milk or run a combine without cows and grain to cut. Also, the jobs on a farm vary through the day, and change with the seasons. The best farmers can do, which is what they will do as they did last year, is to put in longer hours, more farm women and children will work in fields, and crops and livestock will get less attention. In other words, farmers will still do more work themselves.

"It is our guess that some farm boys in service may be released for the crop year. This will be by executive order or legislation. Bear in mind this is a guess only.

"This is the unhappy situation we face along with all industrial plants, inexperienced labor is necessarily being used, and farmers are faced with doing their best with such inexperienced help as they can get. Such help can be used to do manual work on farms, and many of these people do and can make good men for other jobs. The vegetable farmer has more hand work and can use these people to better advantage than the dairyman. Arrangements are being made with suburban schools for help. There is lots of corn out in fields that the farmer cannot get stuck in time for spring plowing. There are some of these boys who can assist. Certainly they can't do the work of an experienced farm hand, but there are no farm hands. Mexicans have been promised but we are fearful that they may not be so available as in the past. The University of Illinois is assisting in bringing southern Illinois boys and men up from low producing areas. This, in our opinion, offers the best bet for the dairyman. Let us know if you want such men."

Prices of mixed feeds slightly reduced by OPA

Price ceilings recently imposed on mixed feeds by the OPA are unlikely to reduce prices materially, since the manufacturer can take his former margin of profit, L. J. Norton, of the department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture, points out.

The order provides that a feed manufacturer establish his maximum selling price for each individual feed he manufactures by adding to the cost of ingredients (using ceiling prices when these are in effect) average margin between his selling and ingredient costs for the months of January, March, May, October, November and December, 1942.

This maximum price must be calculated weekly and price lists furnished to retail dealers. Retailers may add to these maximum prices not more than $7.50 a ton plus any transportation costs paid by them. Custom mixers may charge for ingredients included in feeds they prepare at maximum prices prescribed to them by OPA regulations or at the reasonable market value in case no maximum price has been prescribed, plus $7.50 a ton on all ingredients so furnished. Costs of bags and transportation paid by dealers may also be included in the ingredient price.

Except where retailers have added more than $7.50 a ton, it is fairly certain that this procedure will not substantially reduce costs of mixed feeds to farmers. If the manufacturer's former margin was high, it can continue to be high. Nothing in the order prevents high selling or advertising costs from being continued. Also high profit margins can be continued on certain kinds of mixed feeds in which farmers recognize special advantages.

Since each manufacturer must post in his place of business, mail to all retailers and deliver to others on request a copy of his list prices computed weekly under the order, farmers can check up approximately on retail margins. The difference between this price and retail price represents the dealer's margin and transportation costs paid by him. The "Weekly Feed Letter" issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Chicago, may be helpful, Norton adds.

Women can control all black markets

Never at any time in the past have consumers and the public thought so much about our national food supply, says Miss Jean L. Simpson, associate professor of home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

"Furthermore we have never had occasion to ask ourselves how we shall manage when the next restriction comes. Today what we do, where we go, what we eat, how we spend our money is no longer a matter of individual concern only. It is of importance to the entire world. War changes things for everybody, consumers included.

"Our nation is faced with a stupendous problem. It is obvious that if the war is to be won everything possible must be done to supply adequate war materials. If price control and rationing are to operate effectively as a war-time weapon against inflation every citizen must understand why it is necessary, how it works and what he can do to help make it effective. What then is the homemaker's responsibility?

"It is more difficult for the Office of Price Administration to exercise control over household buyers than it is over merchants, yet if price control and rationing are to work, homemakers must first of all aid in controlling black markets. In order to do this they must refuse to pay more than the ceiling price no matter how much they desire a product. They must know what goods and services are controlled, how to check ceiling prices and what to do and how to do it if they find a product marked above its ceiling price. Since it will be necessary for the Office of Price Administration to change regulations from time to time, supplies and needs, homemakers must keep informed as to new regulations and changes in ceilings.

"Probably the greatest help to wise buying during this emergency is the right attitude of mind—the ability to make quickly and cheerfully the adjustments and changes that are necessary. Homemakers exert a tremendous power through their spending even in normal times. In wartime their decisions have great influence on morale as well as on the national economy. If every homemaker looks upon buying wisely as one of the very important contributions she can make in our all-out effort for victory, and follows through by giving it enough thought and time to do a good job, wartime prices can be kept under control, scarce products can be distributed where they are most needed and a safe standard of living can be maintained for all our people."

'Will increase production' say cook county farmers

Plentiful foods must be included in daily menus

Instead of stressing foods that are scarce, homemakers should put more emphasis on foods which are available in as large amounts as we are likely to want them, according to Miss Jean L. Simpson, associate professor of home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Outstanding in this class are cereals. There is every prospect of ample crops both here and in Canada.

"Given a choice, few of us would probably select cereals as the food to be emphasized. We would rather spend our dollars for meats, fruits, vegetables and dairy products. But at present we have little choice and it is hoped that we shall use plenty of cereals whether it is exactly to our liking or not.

"As a group the whole-grained cereals have far more nutritive value than most people realize. . . they are rich in several important minerals and vitamins. Used as meat extenders, as breakfast food and in puddings as well as bread, large portions of cereals can be introduced into the diet without our being especially conscious of them. Recent information has been released that all of our white bread will be enriched by the addition of some of the nutrients which are removed in the milling process. This is certainly a step forward. Nevertheless the original whole wheat itself is to be preferred for in it is everything that wheat can contribute.

"One of the most promising features about our fruit and vegetable market is that in all probability we shall continue to have plenty of citrus fruits—oranges, grapefruit, lemons and tangerines. From the standpoint of good nutrition, as well as interesting meals, this will be a great boon to the homemaker.

There is no denying that we will have fewer varieties of fresh fruits and vegetables. The fact is already apparent. We have been so accustomed to getting into our menus interesting colors, textures and flavors by means of the different varieties that a great deal of interest will be lost when we have fewer of them. Our meals will no doubt be less exciting, but they need not be drab.

"Perhaps this is a challenge to use the best methods for cooking and serving the few varieties of fresh fruits and vegetables. The fact is already apparent. We have been so accustomed to getting into our menus interesting colors, textures and flavors by means of the different varieties that a great deal of interest will be lost when we have fewer of them. Our meals will no doubt be less exciting, but they need not be drab.

WGN broadcast from local farm home Mar. 13

Cook county farmers may probably be interested in a farm recorded broadcast made by Radio Station WGN by Gail Compton, agricultural editor on the farm of Mr. E. A. Schoppe, north of Bensenville.

The purpose of this broadcast is to give the public a general idea of a vegetable farm, how it is operated and particularly a history of the production of a tomato crop. This will be on the radio Saturday, March 13 at 12 o'clock noon.

COW SETS RECORD

"Milio Segis Island Ridge," 5 year old Wisconsin fair champion, owned by E. L. Schnadig of the Edanell farm, Cloverdale, set an unusual milking and butterfat record. The cow, now aged 6 years 5 months, started the record at 5 years three months. She registered in 317 days 16,120 lbs., 3.48% fat, 562.9 lbs. fat. She is a registered pure bred Holstein from Milwaukee county herd, No. 188240.

Hay, Grain and Feed

20-ton baled hay (tancy timothy); 200 bu. oats; 6 tons choice straw; 5 bu. potatoes; 1 feed mixer.

TERMS: Over $25.00, 1/4 cash; balance 6 monthly payments on bankable notes, 3% interest for 6 months. Everything to be settled for on day of sale.
HOESKE & MOEHLING, Auctioneers, 7037-R Pal. 28-J-1 ARL. HTS. NATL. Bank, Clerk.

Rate fertilizer for general farm crops

Fertilizers for vegetable crops have been previously published. For field crops there are no restrictions on lime, rock or soluble phosphates, or potash, only on nitrogen carrying fertilizers. Only 50% of the requirements may be taken out before April 1, so as to give vegetable growers opportunity to get deliveries as such crops need nitrogen the most.

No nitrogenous fertilizer is to be used on small grains to be harvested as grain.

Nitrogen is allowed for hybrid corn for seed, soybeans (only if used in the past and at past rates), hemp, and flax.

Experiment station recommendations for Illinois are 1500 lbs. rock phosphate per acre for Cook county, or 500 lbs. super-phosphate (0-20-0) for legume crops before seeding on legume sods plowed down for other crops.

In peat soils or others low in potash, use a high potash fertilizer.

Where manure is returned less potash is needed than where it is not. Use 100 to 150 lbs. hill dropped or broadcasted for corn.

For soybeans in Cook county we suggest phosphate fertilizer about the same as corn, except it should be doubled if broadcast on the surface.

For the rest of the county we expect the same answer."

Need full athletic program in wartime 'more than ever'

MAC SAYS:

by GERALD A. McELROY

Full program needed now to combat crime

by GRAYLE HOWLETT
WGN Sports Editor

No community of similar size in the state of Illinois has better facilities for satisfying the normal instincts of American youth for athletics than has Arlington Heights.

But they are facilities that could be made to contribute vastly more than they are contributing at present, or ever have contributed, to the youth of this village, and thus be made to further fulfill a responsibility of education.

The word responsibility is used with due thought. Statements from scores of qualified national leaders clearly point out that a vigorous athletic program in our schools is more than an educational concession to the thirst of American youth to compete. Athletics have proven that they carry their lessons, too, and combined with the lessons of the classroom, make for the complete education that is desired for our youth — in war or in peace.

It was General Douglas MacArthur who once wrote: "The training on the athletic field . . . produces in a superlative degree the attributes of fortitude, self-control, resolution, courage, mental agility and, of course, physical development . . ."

Play to Win
The distinguished educator, Dr. Howard L. Davis, president of Ohio State University, the fourth largest university in America, recently said: "Competitive sport properly conducted means two things — it means playing to win, and playing with due regard for your opponent. It means competition under law, the ideal of democracy. The sports program of America has contributed immeasurably to the mental and physical conditioning of our people."

H. V. Porter, the executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations, commenting on a recent survey by his office of the nation's high schools, was moved to remark: "Schools cannot afford to lose spectator interest in prep sports because that interest is really an interest in the youth of the community. It keeps the adults interested in young people — in the development of youngsters."

Educators recognize that the attributes athletics help develop are equally valuable in time of war or peace — attributes that MacArthur lists as fortitude, self-control, resolution, courage, mental agility, physical development. If, because of present world conditions, they are highly-desirable qualities sought by commanding officers in time of war, they are nonetheless desirable qualities in a youth that some day in the future again will come out of school to face, not war, but what we elders are sometimes pleased to call: "the battle of life."

Must Prepare for the Future
These, of course, are difficult times for schools . . . all schools. Teaching personnel is constantly shifting . . . students feel the readjustments, we can feel confident that education will be carried forward through this period, and that it will be a greater force than ever in the post-war world.

This is by way of answer to any question that might be raised as to the timeliness of intensifying the community school athletic program. The only time element that would seem to apply in the matter of education is covered in one word: "Now!"

As long as there are youngsters in this, or any other American community, we know there will be competitive sport. Take a look at any vacant lot; They may be competing with only a bag stuffed with leaves, or with a taped up baseball — but the important thing is: THEY'LL BE COMPETING . . . testing their skill and their strength against one another.

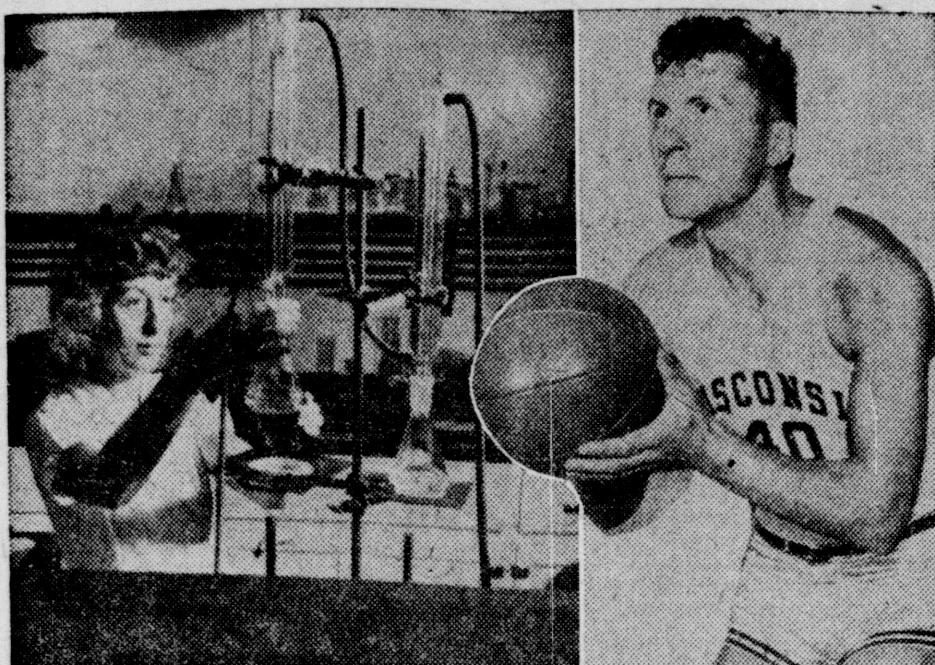

We not only recognize that as healthful . . . we know that it's democratic . . . that it's American. Competitive Instinct
And the thing they are operating on — call it "competitive instinct" for that seems to be the priceless heritage of American youth — this thing, in the specific case of Arlington Heights, can be further harnessed for the good of the boys themselves, for the good of their schools, for the good of their community.

But most of all, for the good of the boys themselves. That is the premise on which is proposed a more complete organization of the athletic program for the youth of this community — a program that will bring one hundred per cent realization of the splendid facilities of Arlington Heights.

It is a program that would start in the elementary schools and reach its climax in the high school; a program so designed that it would bear favorably on all aspects of school life — scholastic, social, intramurals.

It most definitely is not a program designed to produce winning teams for the purposes of victory alone — although it should be pointed out that winning athletics will be the inevitable result. Program of Stimulation
Rather, it is a program of stimulation — further stimulation of the natural, healthy and desirable instinct for sport that is present

Central States News Views

WOMEN AT WAR—Typical of the 4,000,000 new war jobs being filled by women is this research assistant at Schenley Distillers corporation plant in Indiana, which is producing war alcohol exclusively.

AMERICAN ACE—Capt. Joe Foss, Sioux Falls, S. D., has been declared greatest American air ace of all time following recognition that he has shot down his 29th Jap plane. Previous record of 25 planes was held by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker. Right, Mrs. Foss, wife of Marine ace, expresses her pride when she heard news at their home in Sioux Falls.

Award letters at Palatine

Due to the difficulties in buying meat and the rationing of sugar, canned vegetables, and other articles of food it has been decided not to have the usual athletic banquet at Palatine high school. According to plans there will be an awards program in the school auditorium early in May at which time letter winners in the various sports will be announced and awards in other high school activities will be presented. This will be an evening program open to the public.

Basketball
Letters in basketball, football, and cross country have been awarded. Three members of the lightweight basketball team which won 14 out of 15 games played enough as first team subs to get varsity letters making a total of nine major awards. Varsity letters go to George Cramer, Norman Harris, Richard Stinson, Robert Howes, Jack Hayes, and Jack Kunze who are seniors and to the three juniors, Clarence Herr, Melvin Vogt, and Harvey Oltendorf. The varsity team won 16 out of 18 games including 12 straight against conference opponents. Lightweight letters went to Robert Douglas and Clarence Vogt, sophomores; and to Robert Machnik and Arnold Linneman, juniors. Edwin Jones got a varsity minor letter.

Football
The Palatine football team in its first year won four out of six games and finished second in the Northwest conference. Letter winners were Jack Hayes, Dan Erdvieg, Merton Anderson, Wilbert Haemker, Richard Stinson, Norman Harris, Edwin Jones and Irvin Lass, seniors; Roy Lohse, Clarence Herr, Donald Hoosen, Tom Connelley, Charles Bock and Robert Machnik, juniors; and Robert Douglas and Tom Moody, sophomores. Minor letters were awarded to Robert Sikora, senior; Harvey Oltendorf, Jack Goodwin, William Schwank, and Ray McMullin, juniors.

Cross Country
In cross country Palatine won three and lost three, beating Evanston and Niles twice and losing twice to Leyden and once to in 99 out of 100 youngsters in this community. It is not a big-money program; rather, it is a program based on intensive community organization; a program that would bring added purpose and meaning to all phases of school life for both boys and girls from the lower grades of the elementary schools on up through the senior class at high school . . . a program that would fan its youthful enthusiasm out over the entire community.

In short — it is a program that, properly set up and administered, would further satisfy the main consideration and responsibility of our elementary and high school Boards of Education: to graduate a better type all-around student from our schools; a program that would leave an Arlington Heights graduate with richer memories of his school days . . . and with a deeper attachment for the community that made those things available to him.

Oak Park relays first meet of season March 27

by G. A. McELROY

Boys in the Arlington, Bensenville, and Palatine high schools are getting in condition for the coming track season. This week early conditioning work in the gym was being started with hopes of a break in the weather so that outdoor work could soon get under way.

First competition will be the Oak Park Relays on March 27 on the indoor track. Very few local boys will compete in this meet but some may in order to get the chance at early competition. The class of the meet usually eliminates much chance of points for schools lacking indoor facilities.

Arlington Has New Coach

K. D. Barnhill will handle track work at Arlington this spring. He is an experienced coach from Michigan. He was a three sport letterman at Western Michigan. His collegiate days and developed a state champion track team in class C in that state on one occasion. Jack Grose, veteran track coach, will take over the baseball coaching this year at Arlington.

Arlington will have a number of capable track men returning including Morici who went to the state in the discus throw, Green a second place winner in the conference 220, and Gaudtner, hurdler and high jumper.

Bisons Lose Stars

Coach Trapp at Bensenville has graduated many of his stars but will have a capable track team headed by Tett, conference low hurdle champ, and Bornack who holds a similar distinction in the 440. Audas, Kiefer, and Reetz, conference champs in dashes, high jump, and discus are gone.

Pirates Look Good

At Palatine the Pirates should have a pretty fair squad for dual meets, but will be less weaker in the 880 and 440, the strong events of the past few years. Palatine will be a great deal stronger in field and hurdling events. Palatine has 10 lettermen headed by Guenther, hurdler; Muehlheid, sprinter; C. Vogt, miler; and Howes, weight man. Stinson, a transfer from South Beloit is an outstanding pole vaulter and broad-jumper.

Palatine meets eight different schools in dual meets this year. Big meets in which the schools of this area will compete are The Oak Park Relays March 27, Palatine Relays April 24, Provisto Relays May 1, and the State District meet

New Trier beats Libertyville at regional

New Trier advanced to this week's sectional tournament at Elgin by whipping Libertyville 29-21 in the regional finals at Waukegan. New Trier used just five boys in winning the regional final and the fact that they have already beaten Oak Park twice makes them a favorite to beat this team in the sectional opener.

New Trier had the easier bracket at Waukegan with Warren an easy first round opponent and then Maine proving little real opposition in the semi-finals. Pre-tourney dope had been that the district winner would be in the semi-finals but Maine nosed out Antioch 31-29 in the opening round. In the opposite bracket Niles concentrating on Waukegan beat the host school but failed to show earlier form in falling before Libertyville. Coach Bergstrom's Wildcats had the best defensive team in the tourney holding all three of their opponents under 30 points but Gene Beckman, their scoring star, was held to a mere seven points in the final with New Trier and that meant the ball game. Beckman scored a total of 30 points in the first two tourney games. Beckman did not get enough scoring support from his teammates, two of whom had been out recently with injuries that kept them from top tournament form.

Arlington youth wins backstroke swimming title

Bill Hatch, co-captain of Fenwick high school swimming team, of Oak Park, and who lives at 500 Mayfair rd., Searsdale, Arlington Heights won the backstroke championship in the Catholic high school league swimming meet; Bill also finished 2nd in the breaststroke.

This meet was held at the Loyola academy swimming pool Sunday, March 7, and is the sixth straight year that Fenwick has won the championship.

Palatine meets eight different schools in dual meets this year. Big meets in which the schools of this area will compete are The Oak Park Relays March 27, Palatine Relays April 24, Provisto Relays May 1, and the State District meet Tuesday, May 25.

Cardinals pick Coleman, Peeters as co-captains

The members of the Arlington basketball squad elected Tom Coleman and Don Peeters as co-captains for the season just closed. Peeters had 122 points and Coleman 119 for about twice the point total of the next highest scoring Cardinals. In addition Peeters was the main defensive player for the Arlington five. Coleman's spirited play made him the spark plug of the Cards throughout the season. Both these boys were hard workers and real team players.

Coleman and Peeters will lead their senior five in the interclass finals Friday night, their last high school appearance in Arlington basketball.

Seniors maul juniors, 66-27 at Palatine

The Palatine seniors defeated the juniors 66-27 in the interclass tournament finals held Friday evening. The seniors constituted the Palatine varsity team which won 16 out of 18 the past season while the members of the lightweight team which had a record of 14-1 made up the junior team. Seniors led 30-17 at the half. Howes scored 20 points, Stinson 14, Hayes 13 and Harris 10 for the seniors. Herr and Vogt got nine apiece for the juniors.

In preliminary games between teams of the intra mural auto league the leading Ford whipped the Chevrolts 17-13 and the tail end Plymouths turned back the second place Buicks 21-20 in an overtime.

We Pick Elgin To Go To State Tourney

In our opinion the winner of the Elgin Regional would go to the state. We think this opinion is all the more justified in view of last week's regional results. New Trier has a good team but lacks a tall consistent rebound center. New Trier tied for second in the suburban league with Oak Park, two games behind Morton. Friday New Trier, with a record of 14-5, meets Oak Park 14-5 at the Elgin sectional. This should be a close battle. In the other Friday game Elgin 16-3 meets West Aurora 12-8. To us it looks like Elgin will take their third victory of the year over West High with-out too much trouble while Oak Park and New Trier will have too tough a time with each other to trim Elgin the following night whichever comes out on top. It looks like Elgin vs. New Trier on Saturday with Elgin, coached by J. Kraft, going to the state for the first time since 1926. Elgin won the state title in 1924 and 1925.

West Rockford Favored

The Rockford sectional should be a set up for West Rockford with Sycamore, Rochelle, and Freeport the other entries. The winner at Rockford, probably West High, will meet the winner of the Elgin sectional in the opening round of the state tournament. In the other northern sectional at Joliet it looks like Sonomaug would win if they get by improving Joliet in the first game. Paris, Moline, and Taylorville are rated as teams most likely to produce the state champ.

Libertyville Had a Fine Team

It is a hard job to select the outstanding team of the Northeast Conference this year as the free lance schedule of the teams brought only a few of them together, making comparative ratings very difficult. We decided at the start of the season that we would try to pick the outstanding team of that league. Going into the regional tournaments we were still in a quandry as Woodstock, Libertyville, and Niles rated about even with us. Woodstock had topped off a very good year by beating highly rated Bevidere. We had Libertyville picked as superior to Niles, but in one of the last games the Trojans beat the Wildcats 66-44. So it was about a draw as Libertyville and Niles had split and Woodstock and Libertyville had beaten Arlington, their only common opponent outside of Hebron, by almost the same scores.

Wildcats Are Our Selection as Champs

On the basis of tournament play we pick Libertyville as the best team for the whole season in the Northeast League. The Wildcats beat Niles in the Waukegan tournament. Woodstock looked far from impressive at the Elgin regional. Libertyville was handicapped through the last month of the season by injuries to Kranz, Schaffer, and Beckman, all three valuable regulars. But for this we feel that Libertyville would have taken the regional tourney as well as all their scheduled games after Hebron, Antioch, and Niles

Provisto relays to be run May 1

The Provisto Relays will be held again at Maywood May 1. Last fall athletic director Remy stated that the meet would be discontinued, but conditions of travel have improved and the meet will again be held. This is one of the strongest out-door relay meets in the state.

Maine, Major letters went to Clarence Vogt, Herbert Hapke, Tom Dipper, and Donald Winn. Minors went to Milton Hapke and Louis VanDyke.

Result: just hear that cash register ring!

Ask our representative to call and give complete ad-details.

THERE GOES THE BELL! They're off! You bet they're off — to your store when you run an ad in Paddock Publications. That beautiful bell-like music you hear is the cash register ringing up sale after sale. Merchants are all beginning to realize that "It pays to advertise" isn't just a meaningless phrase. There's truth behind that slogan, and we can prove it. Take any piece of merchandise — keep it in your store for a week without advertising it. The second week, announce it in the Paddock Publications. Can you notice the difference? Of course you can! Just think for a moment. When a woman opens a newspaper, what is the first thing she's interested in? The ads! And don't think that men become engrossed only in the current happenings of the nation. No, they take just as much of an interest in the news of YOUR store. So, start advertising in the Paddock Publications today, and listen to that bell ringing up all those sales.
